The Adventures of

Milo

Minutes before deadline, Milo finds himself in a perilous situation...the phone rings out of control, the fax is out of paper, unanswered messages pile up, the modem line is busy & Betty is still at lunch.

Yeeechhh!

The next day, Milo finds himself in synch with his Intelesys system, in total control and ready to handle the next challenge... as soon as Betty gets back from lunch.

Ommmm

In today's world you demand a lot from your computer.

Why not everything? Why not get all the capabilities you need, all the features you want, all in one system? Take your choice of any Intelesys system and you'll get exactly that.

With Intelesys, you get a super fast system complete with preloaded business and entertainment software, an Intelesys communication controller with standard features including a fax modem, a data modem, telephony, a CD ROM and a monitor. Intelesys systems come ready to answer your phone, fax your documents, play music, balance your budget and run your business. All you need to do is plug it in, turn it on, and enjoy. As you can see, this process leaves no room for confusion.

All systems are multimedia configurations and include over $700.00 in Microsoft software!

THE 1994 SOAPBOX AWARDS

Yes, Here At Last, And Worth The Wait, It's.... The 1994 MicroTimes Writers' Soapbox Awards!

As our faithful readers know, once a year we invite our dedicated contributors to sound off on the best and worst of the preceding year, and usually they find plenty to sound off about.

This year is no exception. One guy has a blissful tech support experience, another has a bad shopping day. There are isolated instances of self-promotion. As usual, there's little consensus and a lot of subjectivity. Which is, of course, the idea.

Hardware:

The Toshiba x3401 CD-ROM Drive. Never fails, faster than some of the newer triple- and quadruple-speed drives, works with a variety of SCSI adapter cards. The external version is easy to transport to the stereo system and reconfigure as a dedicated CD player.

AMI PCI Atlas P-90 Motherboard. Fast and well engineered, this motherboard includes two onboard serial ports with 16550 UARTs, an onboard parallel port, and two IDE controllers, capable of supporting up to four drives simultaneously. Unlike some of the cheaper clone motherboards, it does not disable monochrome video support, and it includes a Plug N' Play ready AMI WINBIOS.

Software:

The outstanding software product of 1994 is IBM's new OS/2 Warp, v3.0. This version runs at least twice as fast as OS/2 2.1, and includes a series of new productivity features: program launchbar, word processor/spreadsheet, fax program, CompuServe navigator, and IBM Internet kit (with built-in TCP/IP support to let you navigate the World Wide Web). The people who designed this upgrade are finally awake to what users want and need in the '90s. The problems that plagued earlier releases—installation bugs and lack of drivers—have been mostly eliminated.

An honorable mention to Helix's Cloaked MultiMedia Utilities. This little package can gain you from 60K to 90K of DOS conventional memory by loading CD-ROM extensions, mouse driver, and disk cache above 1MB. Version 2, which is due to be released shortly, will be able to do this trick, even if you don't install a DOS memory manager. (The current version requires support from DOS's included HIMEM.SYS, or a third-party package like QEMM, 386MAX, or Helix's own NETROOM.)

Aldus Persuasion 3.0 is an outstanding product for the Macintosh. It contains more sophisticated graphing and charting options than any other Windows or Mac desktop presentation package. The PowerPC version was just released as this goes to press.

Mary Eisenhart

This time next year I will probably be holding forth on several things I haven't quite gotten to yet, Netscape being first on the list. Next year I too will become a Webster. Maybe by that time somebody will have come up with a PageMaker equivalent for Web pages, too. (Currently, of course, Web pages are going through the same evolutionary hideousness that afflicted desktop publishing in its early days—3 x 5-card layouts with twenty-five different fonts and the like. Eventually there will probably be niche magazines for Web-page artists.)

I suspect that by this time next year there will be a good selection of Magic Cap/Telescript-based devices out there and I will have one. It may even be the Sony Magic Link that's out now.

And finally, having just learned from my old pal Roy Leban that FullWrite, the late lamented word processor from Ann Arbor Softworks that migrated to Ashton-Tate and more or less went into cryonic suspension after Borland (a fine company with little understanding of the Macintosh) acquired it, is returning to the land of the living. Back in the late '80s, FullWrite pioneered a number of features that eventually became standard components of word processors, and I'm looking forward to checking out the new improved version. Stay tuned.

But on the Cool Stuff Of 1994 front:

StuffIt Deluxe from Aladdin (now in v3.5) is an indispensable tool. Thanks to its awesome array of translators, I am now able to get text and graphics files as very weird-looking ASCII email (because the writer who's sending them has, say, uuencoded and arc'd the file), convert them, and work on them, regardless of whether they were created and compressed on Amigas, Suns, Compaqs, or Macs. This has eliminated an amazing amount of frustration and wasted time, and I recommend the product to any Mac user who needs to work with a lot of big and alien files. (Aladdin: 408/761-6200)

The other big productivity booster in the office has been Casady & Greene's Snap Mail, which has virtually eliminated Sneakernet and most of the paperwork attendant on deadline. Now when some hapless reader sends me a question in email (e.g. "Where can I pick up your magazine in El Monte?"), the question goes off in Snap Mail to the person who can actually answer it, and I've often got the answer ready for my correspondent in the same email session. Instead of wasting time finding a floppy big enough to hold that 1.3 meg GIF file, I just Snap it over to the art department. Highly recommended, and thanks to our systems czar John Dito for bringing us this wonder. (Casady & Greene: 408/484-9928)

Of course, every bit of productivity I have gained from these two products has been lost to tinkering with The Complete After Dark, a CD-ROM from Berkeley Systems. It includes all the After Dark screen saver packages in recent memory (except, alas, the Star Trek one), not to mention some helpful new Energy Star features that blank your screen after a designated idle period. Many of the screen savers are charming and wonderful, and several will make you laugh out loud—the ever-popular Multimedia Karaoke Flying Toasters, for instance, or Rat Race, in which varyingly clued rodents named after Berkeley Systems programmers run, or don't, around a virtual track. My favorite so far, Bad Dog!, portrays the usually destructive antics of a realistically ill-behaved canine on the desktop, with unspeakable consequences to the Trash can and great added stress in the life of the guileless kitten Boris.

The productivity hazard here is that it's possible to spend literally hours selecting and configuring your screen saver. I know. I've done it. Several times. And you should have this experience too, so if nobody buys you this CD-ROM for Christmas, buy it yourself! (Berkeley Systems: 510/549-2300)

A niche product, but an extremely useful one for the purpose, is MicMac from Nirvana Research, which allows recording of voice-grade sound directly to your Mac's hard disk. It greatly enhances the usefulness of PowerBooks as transcription machines, but it's also good for spoken memos and the like. (Nirvana Research: 1-800-525-3888; nirvana@cup.portal.com)

Moving to the book world: For a good read combined with a scarily plausible scenario of converging media, technology, and politics, check out Interface, by Stephen Bury. "Stephen Bury" is Snow Crash author Neal Stephenson and his anonymous uncle, whose last name ends in "-bury," and they're both imaginative and fine-writing dudes. Highly recommended.

Peter John Harrison

Sometimes being a good LAN administrator has less to do with knowing how to run your company's LAN than knowing where to find the things you need to keep it running. With this in mind, here's a listing of the vendors and villains who've helped me do my job over this last year.

My first choice for LAN hardware vendor of the year is Network Express (1-800-374-9899). I've used Network Express at least a dozen times this last year, and they've always done a good job for me. They're my first choice for everything from common network cards to specialized LAN hardware the electronics superstores don't usually carry, like multi-port repeaters. Network Express prices are competitive, too, and while I can't always depend on the electronics superstores to have a dozen of my favorite network cards on hand, Network Express can usually get them to me the next morning.

Another choice mail-order supplier I use is 800-SOFTWARE (1-800-SOFTWARE). Like Network Express, 800-SOFTWARE usually has a dozen or more copies of the more popular software titles on hand, and they carry out-of-the-way stuff, too, like Novell NetWare license upgrades, and they're always happy to order copies of anything they don't have on hand, all at competitive prices.

800-SOFTWARE also wins this year's nomination for best telephone salesperson. All the salespeople at Network Express and 800-SOFTWARE have been helpful, but Mary James always seems to remember my name and always gets me to smile or laugh when I talk with her.

Another great mail-order source for the network administrator is Pacific Computer Supply (415/366-0353). When one of my client's accounting servers developed parity problems in main memory and died, Pacific Computer Supply was able to ship me proprietary Compaq memory modules overnight, where their competitors couldn't do it in less than a week.

Not all my favorite vendors are mail-order outfits. Fry's Electronics (415/496-6000), for example, has an excellent selection of hardware, low prices, and reasonably friendly, knowledgeable staff. Over the last few years I've bought a couple dozen computer systems and innumerable smaller components from Fry's, and while they haven't always been perfect, they've always been easier to work with and generally less expensive than their major competition, CompUSA (1-800-CompUSA). [I am not a CompUSA fan.]

A vendor I can recommend is NCA Peripherals (408/739-9010). NCA has a good selection and some of the best prices on hard disk, tape, and CD-ROM drives, which you can either walk in and buy or order over the phone for next-day delivery. More than once I've had them ship drives directly to my clients, and felt confident that the drive would be there in working condition the next morning. In addition to their storage devices, they also have a good selection of PC-compatible hardware, and they sell their own line of PC clones. This was a big help earlier this year when one of my clients needed a replacement Trident "TVGA" card; NCA was the only place that carried them. NCA has also been good about exchanges, letting me hand-carry defective hard drives and computer memory to their Santa Clara location for a hassle-free exchange.

This past year has been marked by a decided drop-off in useful new products. I attribute this partly to the maturity of the industry. In past years, major new entries came along to fill real gaps in the tools we have. But now, most of the essentials are available and what we're seeing is a lot of refinements. I am pleased that the basics are finally taken care of. The result is that I have only a few products to highlight this year.

On the hardware side, one of my favorite new products is the ScanMan Power Page from Logitech. This amazingly useful scanner is small enough to carry on a trip; plugs into the parallel port of your computer; and scans full pages either for faxing, copying, or simply scanning in text or pictures. The software that comes with the product is powerful and well designed and works nicely with my fax software.

I have finally settled on BitFax Professional for my fax as well as general communications software. The package contains a lot of modules, including the ability to work as an answering machine if you have a voice modem. While the documentation is too skimpy, once you get it all figured out this software package is terrific for all your communication needs.

Hewlett-Packard's OmniBook 530 is my current choice for a subnotebook computer. Although it is small enough to easily go anywhere, it uses a real hard drive rather than an abbreviated memory module that ultimately causes you to modify the way you work. This basic design will undoubtedly last for years as refinements are added.

The last hardware product I've especially enjoyed is Maxtor's DeskRunner/MobileMax system. The first part of the system fits into a desktop computer and allows it to accommodate PCMCIA cards. The second part of the system is a line of PCMCIA hard drives that you can plug in, take out, and use in any other machine—portable, palmtop, or whatever—that is set up for a PCMCIA hard drive. This may be the wave of the future as increasingly large capacity hard drives in this format come to market.

The most exciting software product this year for Windows users who use word processors is AddressMate for Windows. This $69.95 package is a must if you write letters or maintain a database of addresses and phone numbers. It is designed to work seamlessly with AmiPro, Microsoft Word, and WordPerfect for Windows. Type a last name in your letter, hit an icon, and the name and address are inserted into the letter. Hit another icon and both the letter and an envelope are printed like magic. Bring up a name in the database and hit a couple of keys and the phone is dialed for you. The program does lots more, like make business cards, labels, name tags, place cards, and the like. This is the real Swiss Army Knife program and works to perfection. Available from CoStar (1-800-426-7827).

A final mention goes to The Greatest Paper Airplanes from KittyHawk Software (1-800-388-9622). For $40 you can get animated plans for twenty-five of the greatest paper airplanes you can imagine. And to keep you from being bored when your computer enters screen saver mode, you can see these airplanes folded and unfolded in front of your eyes.

Another year has flown by, and what a year it has been! PowerPC Macs have already wiggled into the Performa line and I'm still paying off my 512K. But it's great to be given another opportunity to blow soap-bubbles from the box.

Here are my picks for hardware and software honors. I guarantee that you will find them slightly unusual! Most are practical items that will help keep you computing and productive. It's an easy call to pick the sexy technology of the moment—which I would gladly do right now if I wasn't protecting myself for next month's column!

I've also stayed away from any recommendations of particular Macintosh models. There's no doubt that this is truly one of the best times in our brief computer history to buy a Macintosh. You will score big with almost anything you buy, from the "low-end" 68040 processor models to a PowerPC screamer. But stretch a little byte and spend the dough you don't really have. If you buy more computer than you think you need, you'll do better in the long run.

They do not, of themselves, give you any output, or product that you can touch with your hands. Instead, a modem moves you out from your solitary relationship with your computer desktop, and into the entire world's computing space. You've got to be there with us!

There are an alphabet soup's worth of different protocols that can confuse the new user, but there's nothing to worry about. It's worth the extra money to buy a fast modem that supports the V.32bis protocol, even though it requires a special "hardware handshake" cable (most stores bundle everything together for you). The model with the most favorable mentions in BMUG meetings right now is the U.S. Robotics Sportster 14.4 modem.

CD-ROMs are getting to be essential equipment. There's lots of good information, and really interesting games. Let's get our priorities straight, right? BMUG likes the Apple CD 300 drive, which is a good double-spin drive. It comes with a handful of discs, too.

• Panamax Surge Protectors. If these are not the best surge protectors in the world, they are the next best thing. Panamax protectors are not cheap, but they'll keep your even more expensive computer equipment from the vagaries of the power grid. They also have flavors for your home entertainment system or copier. If your system is damaged by a surge while properly connected with their protector they will pay for any and all repairs. Panamax, 150 Mitchell Blvd., San Rafael, CA 94903-2057. 1-800-472-5555; fax: (415)472-5540.

• Q-Safety Earthquake Safety Fastening Products are an exceptional set of simple devices to hold your computer, electronic equipment, or anything else down during an earthquake. There are fasteners for cabinets, water coolers—everything! The braces are various flavors of molded nylon, automobile industry, Velcro fasteners. Q-Safety, 2341 East Foothill Blvd., Pasadena, CA 91107. (818)449-1590; fax: (818)449-6866.

• The Tao of AppleScript was the first book on the market about AppleScript. Perhaps you're interested in finding out how BMUG was able to automate the layout of our disk catalog—taking information on the thousands of programs in the BMUG shareware library, stored in almost two dozen FileMaker Pro databases, and pass it on to PageMaker for formatting and correct positioning. Our script chugged on for ten days and nights (sounds almost biblical, doesn't it?), but saved months of human work. Sound like something you could use? You bet!

It includes a high-density disk containing Apple's official AppleScript software, as well as scripting utilities and additions written specifically for the book. The book weighs in just shy of three hundred pages and is published by Hayden Books. It's only $20 when ordered from the BMUG office. (510)549-2684; fax: (510)849-9026.

• ClarisWorks. Did you forget to add in software when you were budgeting your Macintosh purchase? It's not an uncommon occurrence. If you can spring for just one program, take a look at ClarisWorks. It has plenty of features, and has a great user interface. It really works beautifully together, as it was designed to—shocking behavior in a piece of software!

• Creating a Healthy Work Environment. Some bosses still don't believe that computer use can cause health problems. If you can get them to read it, Apple has put out a little 12-page pamphlet that runs through basic repetitive-stress, eye fatigue, and hardware setup health issues. It even mentions laser printer ozone pollution. It's a good place to start a health and safety discussion. Apple Computer Inc., 20525 Mariani Ave., Cupertino, CA 95014. (408)996-1010.

• EndNote Plus. More people than ever before are going back to school. Keeping track of information for the various term papers you have due is always a problem. EndNote Plus, a powerful database that knows all about bibliographic references and styles, almost makes writing a term paper fun. It automatically generates a correctly formatted bibliography and footnotes for your paper. Niles and Associates, 2000 Hearst St., Berkeley, CA 94709. (510)649-8176 fax: (510)649-8179.

• Think for Yourself CD-ROM. This is a CD-ROM collection of statistics from United Nations, World Health Organization, and other American governmental sources, with an easy-to-use Discovery data analysis program. The information includes data on AIDS, the environment, health, and American demographics. The Discovery application "understands" the information of the data sets, and lets even young kids analyze and solve problems. It has a list price of $249, and an academic discount of $149. PEMD Education Group, PO Box 39, 35000 Highway 128, Cloverdale, CA 95425. (707)894-3668; fax: (707)894-5200.

What a great privilege it is for me to write under the BMUG banner. The helping and giving that flows daily from our staff and volunteers are the embodiment of the spirit of computing. Computers are not just machines. They are the synergistic combination of silicon and biological memories, only coming to life when we turn on the machine and connect with the data. BMUG believes computers can be a force for positive change, and we need the support of members and the developer community to keep up our good work.

I thank MicroTimes, Mary Eisenhart, and especially all the readers who have supported the BMUG column. May you and your data remain safe and healthy in the coming year.

Let's see—last year at this time I said, "The best you can say for Commodore Business Machines, Inc. is 'the body's still warm.'" I also stated that I felt they had "taken the proper and necessary steps to wait out the storm." Well, I was wrong, and Commodore is no more.

It's been many months since Commodore closed its doors, but as I write this, it appears that the Amiga technology will be acquired either by the Commodore UK management group, headed up by David Pleasance, or by Creative Equipment Inc. (CEI), headed up by Alex Amor. Interviews with these two people were published in the September and October issues of Amazing Computing. Although publishing lag-time precludes real-time information, I felt the interviews provided valuable insight into how each of these suitors would handle things if they were the successful bidder. It was also nice to get real information instead of hearsay and speculation.

The UK group would initially emphasize Commodore's bread and butter, Europe. This translates into an emphasis on A1200s and CD32s. Essentially, the North American market would receive little attention unless a third party would take control of things under some type of distribution arrangement. My thought would be that CEI, as the unsuccessful bidder in this scenario, would be a likely candidate.

On the other hand, if CEI should win, they would push the Amiga as a video solution, and not try to compete directly with PCs and Macs, though Amor indicated that Amiga prices would have to be brought in line with PCs. I like CEI's attitude and would like to see the Amiga pushed as a video-solution machine.

Even though the Amiga relies greatly on technology nearly ten years old and PC hardware has met and surpassed the Amiga in many ways, with respect to doing video and animations, I don't think I could be even half as productive using a PC. Amiga video hardware and software is more mature. Installation is nearly always a snap, at least compared to the PC world—we have always had "plug-and-go" technology. The benefits of the Amiga's efficient multitasking OS and ARexx programming language would be difficult, if not impossible, to find in the PC Windows world.

I sincerely believe that despite some crossover, the two platforms have become inherently different beasts and, as such, can exist side-by-side. The Amiga is a niche computer; that's OK with me. It's a big niche!

I don't really like to start the Macintosh/Amiga comparison; Apple has its own battle to fight with PCs. Most of the good Mac software has been ported to Windows, so Apple is not holding as many cards as it used to.

I know recent Power Mac sales have exceeded expectations, but that is probably not a long-term indicator. How many new computer owners are buying Macs instead of PCs? How many PC owners are switching to Macs? How much of the Power Mac sales are to people who already own Macs? What is Apple going to do with all of the inventory of non-PowerPC Macs (Quadras, etc.)? What's going to happen when Apple releases the next-generation Power Macs with not-backwards-compatible PCI buses?

I think the answers are: "few," "fewer," "most," "sell them cheap and undermine Power Mac sales," and "annoy anyone who bought a current Power Mac."

The point of the matter, as any good business person will tell you, is that to continue to be successful, you must increase market share. I just don't see that happening for Apple. I'm not saying the Mac is dead by any stretch of the imagination; I wish Commodore was in as good shape. I just don't think any platform can successfully compete head-to-head with PCs (i.e. Microsoft). That platform just has too much momentum.

AmigaLink allows you to network Amigas together using their floppy disk ports. Better than ParNet because it frees up the parallel port, the SANA-II compatible software operates like a real network, and more than two machines can be connected. Although significantly slower, this is much cheaper than an Ethernet solution, and doesn't take up any valuable expansion slots. Plus it works on slotless Amigas like the A1200 and CDTV. (217/352-0061)

Pegger 2.0 (Heifner Communications)

Pegger adds JPEG support to any program. The new 2.0 release is significantly more versatile with the addition of the "snoop-by-program" feature. Pegger is invisible, fast, and can save oodles of disk space. (1-800-445-6164)

LightWave 3D Standalone (NewTek)

People without VideoToasters can finally officially purchase and run LightWave 3D. This version, 3.5, also adds some great new features. (1-800-847-6111)

This is a short list, but I've tried to make it meaningful, and Amiga product development has been in somewhat of a limbo lately. There are, I'm sure, other products that deserve to be listed, but I've tried to limit contenders to products that I've actually used. Because they have not shipped as of this writing, I didn't consider products like NewTek's nonlinear video editing card, the Flyer, and Electronic Art's DeluxePaint V.

Hardware:

1994 has been another year of change at Apple. Throughout much of this past year, more and more critics seemed to be predicting Apple's demise.

In the face of this widespread pessimism, Apple is closing the year on a very strong note. The understated introduction and seamless integration of the RISC-based Power Mac have shown that Apple has not completely grown into another risk-averse technology company. In fact, the Power Mac has helped push Apple to "leader of the pack" for number of units shipped last quarter, a position recently claimed by Compaq.

Along with the new high-end systems, the continued proliferation of more competitively priced Macintosh computers and the corresponding migration of the low end to '040 machines were noteworthy in 1994. Unfortunately, the differences between a Performa and Mac Quadra are still unclear. It still reminds me of a production line at General Motors—several base platforms packaged with slightly different configurations and varying prices. What is the difference between the comparable Olds, Buick, or Pontiac? To be fair in this comparison, I must add that unlike the Olds, Buick, and Pontiac of today, Apple continues to manufacture high-quality products with many of the features people desire.

Another Apple product that attracted my attention this year was the QuickTake digital camera. I am not a huge fan of collecting family photos on my hard drive, but for the growing number of people who are busy publishing to the Net, creating World Wide Web Home Pages, a digital camera is a necessary tool.

For telecommunications hardware, the Global Village Teleport series continues to shine as high-quality, reliable hardware. It also comes with easy-to-use fax software. Reflecting this higher quality is a slightly higher price, but it's worth it. For example, initially, after connecting a Teleport Gold external modem for my Mac it did not work properly. I called tech support and we narrowed down the problem to the modem itself. Global Village FedEx'ed me a replacement along with a pre-paid form for returning the troubled modem. I now agree with the crowd of people who swear the extra bucks are worth it.

This year, I also bought a competitively priced US Robotics 14.4 external fax modem for my father. Once I convinced him to "get online", I set him up with a modem. Unobtrusive, with an on/off switch and volume button on the front panel, the USR Sportster is also an excellent choice. (1-800-342-5877)

Software:

This year our office made a leap forward on the communications front by installing internal email. Snap Mail, by Casady & Greene (408/484-9928), is as easy to use as you could imagine. In fact, it was installed without warning during the night on everyone's computer. There was a short memo letting us know it was there and a brief description on how to use Snap Mail. Other than that, there was no training. Within a few weeks Snap Mail had become a critical part of how the office communicates.

For communicating to the larger world via telecommunications, I have loyally been using MicroPhone, from Software Ventures. But posing a serious challenge is a new application from Aladdin called SITcomm. However, after working with SITcomm for several months, I proved that people have a strong tendency to stay with what they know. I returned to MicroPhone, where I'd already learned how to do a given set of tasks.

For people who have not yet been indoctrinated through experience to a particular telecommunications application, listen to what your friends have to say, but take a look at SITcomm before making a final decision.

Online:

Whether you read about the Internet or are online, you have not been able to ignore the buzz surrounding the World Wide Web. Overly simplified, the Web is a hypertext system for publishing to the net. NCSA Mosaic, a freely available graphical reader to the Web, changed how people work with the Web.

The full impact of the wildfire started by NCSA Mosaic has yet to be witnessed, but a couple of effects are already visible. The demand for Mosaic has spawned a host of competing applications, including NCSA Mosaic (still freely available on the Net), Enhanced NCSA Mosaic (an improved, officially licensed version available from Spyglass, 217/355-6000), Netscape (created by some of the original Mosaic team), and others.

The major new company in this area is Netscape Communications Corp., cofounded by Silicon Graphics founder Jim Clark and Marc Andreessen, coleader of the original Mosaic team.

The other major impact from the demand to access the Web and use Mosaic-type software has been in the type of access to the Internet we use. No longer is a traditional dial-up connection to a local service provider sufficient to use Mosaic or other higher-level software for working on the Internet. You now needed a SLIP or PPP connection and at least a 14.4Kbps modem.

In the face of dire predictions of overloading the Internet, the demand for SLIP/PPP connections has helped to lower the prices. One of my favorite services, IGC (Institute for Global Communications, 415/442-0220), now includes SLIP at no additional charge. (They are also adjusting their price structure to generally lower the connect charges.)

Kevin's 10 Favorite Internet Books

One hundred and sixty books. That's how many books are listed in the Unofficial Internet Booklist, a bibliography of books about the Internet. I publish the Booklist online. It's free to anyone who wants to know about 160 books that have to do with the Internet.

If you ran to the bookstore today and bought the lot of them, they'd cost you about $4000. If you even managed to get them home, you'll have about fifty thousand pages to pore through.

I'm guessing that most readers would rather not spend $4000 on Internet books, and would certainly rather not read fifty thousand pages of anything. So here are my ten favorite Internet books. Go to your bookstore and pick up some (or all) of them, and

GUIDE

Computer shopping is often a stressful business. Once again this year, the computer industry has inundated the customer with thousands of choices when it comes to buying new equipment or upgrading existing systems. However motivated they might be, many would-be buyers are so overwhelmed by the formidable task of shopping that they don't know where to start.

Well, once again this year, help is on the way. We're happy to present this year's edition of our listing of Northern California computer dealers and service providers, along with Authorized Service Provider listings on page 158, to help you find what you need (and the business that wants to sell it to you) quickly and easily.

In addition to this handy year-round reference, we're also happy to refer you to our new MicroTimes Quotation Hotline service (details on page 32), another way we're striving to make your computer shopping a breeze.

Cyrix
Advancing the Standards

World's Fastest DX2.

The Cx486DX2-V80 offer up to 35% higher performance than Intel-based 486DX2-66s.

Cool to the Touch. At a lower voltage, the DX2-V80 runs cool — offering better reliability and avoiding expensive cooling fan requirements.

Write-Back Advantage.

Only Cyrix DX2-V80s have an 8k write-back cache to enable full 80 MHz clock-doubled performance.

Local Bus = 40 MHz. The 40 MHz local bus zooms past the 33 MHz bus of DX2-66s for blazing graphics and disk performance.

"Green" Too. With low voltage and built-in "deep-green" power management, Cyrix DX2-V80 systems easily exceed EPA compliance — even multimedia PCs.

For the price of a DX2-66. The Cyrix DX2-V80 delivers first class value for your computing dollar — with more speed and performance for about the same price as a DX2-66 system.

Intel DX2-66
System lockup!
120° C

CPU Case Temperature.

The 3 volt Cyrix DX2-V80 runs cool, without the thermal problems of DX2-66s. Tests run using Landmark V2.00, test in open air at room temperature (25° C).

you'll enjoy the best of the best. These are in no particular order, because, well, I couldn't decide.

1. Internet Starter Kit for Macintosh, second edition

By Adam Engst

Published by Hayden Books

ISBN 1-56830-064-6, $29.95

I used to think that this was absolutely the best Internet book for Macintosh users that was ever—or could ever be—written. Then the second edition came out and proved me wrong.

This book claims to be “everything you need to get on the Internet” and it delivers: everything from the software you'll need to get connected, to one thousand pages of copious knowledge. This is a fun, enlightening, excellent book. If you own a Mac and are on the Internet (or want to connect) this is the one to get.

2. The Internet Business Guide: Riding the Information Superhighway to Profit

By Rosalind Resnick and Dave Taylor

Published by Sams Publishing

ISBN 0-672-30530-5, $25

Suddenly, everyone seems to be a self-proclaimed expert on how to do business on the Internet, so a half dozen books on the topic have appeared on bookshelves. Of the various books on doing business on the Internet, The Internet Business Guide: Riding the Information Superhighway to Profit is by far the best. By reading this book, you'll find out how to use the Internet to build market share, track down business leads, communicate with colleagues, and search online databases.

The book makes extensive use of real-life case studies to show how doing business on the Net can succeed—and fail. It covers aspects of business on the Net thoroughly and from unique angles, such as offering cost-effective customer support and exploring the options of setting up an online shop. If you've ever thought about using the Internet for your business, read this book first.

3. Internet Slick Tricks

By Alfred and Emily Glossbrenner

Published by Random House

ISBN 0-679-75611-6

270 pages, $16.00

If you've been on the Internet forever (or at least for a couple months) and you think you know it all, pick up Internet Slick Tricks. I bet you'll learn something new. This slim guide will show you hundreds of tips and tricks on using the Internet. It's readable and honest and full of fascinating facts on decoding graphic images, using Archie, finding info online, and much more.

4. Your Internet Consultant—The FAQs of Life Online

By Kevin M. Savetz

Published by Sams

ISBN 0-672-30520-8

550 pages, $25

If you're reading this blatant plug for my own book, then this article has squeezed by my (intelligent and talented!) editor, Mary.

Your Internet Consultant—The FAQs of Life Online provides simple, enlightening answers to hundreds (361, to be exact) of frequently asked questions about the Internet. The book is unique because it is arranged in a question-and-answer format, making it blissfully simple to find just the information you need. Your Internet Consultant covers questions asked by users at every level, like “How can I send email to Congress?”, “Where can I find games online?”, and “How can I fall in love on the Internet?”

5. The Complete Idiot's Guide to the Internet

By Peter Kent

Published by Alpha Books

ISBN 1-56761-414-0, $19.95

I have an aversion to books that treat the reader like a moron—or, even worse, that assume the reader himself thinks he's a moron. However, I discovered that this is actually a handy book for the beginner. It explains in a straightforward way how to get on the Internet, use the basic tools, and avoid many all-too-common traps. It teaches the Internet as a series of easy steps, focusing on what you really need to know to get a job done, rather than exotic details most of us don't have the time or patience for. It also comes with a DOS disk filled with additional reference documents and utilities. It's lighthearted, nontechnical, and enjoyable to read.

6. Teach Yourself the Internet: Around the World in 21 Days

By Neil Randall

Published by Sams

ISBN 0-672-30519-4, $27.00

Many books about the Internet focus on individual tools, not how to accomplish a specific task. That approach can work, but that isn't the way many of us learn. We tend to ask questions like, “How can I get travel information online?” and “Where can I find job listings on the Net?” Teach Yourself the Internet: Around the World in 21 Days will appeal to those folks, because it's decidedly topic-oriented, not tool-oriented. For instance, if you're interested in reading (or publishing) an online magazine, this book shows you where to go for the goods on Usenet, in mailing lists, and on the World Wide Web. If you're looking for a job, the authors show you not only how to find job listings online, but how to use the Net to research prospective employers and find international job sources. Even if you've been on the Net for years, this book will certainly show you corners you've never imagined.

7. The Whole Internet User's Guide and Catalog, second edition

By Ed Krol

Published by O'Reilly & Associates

ISBN: 1-56592-063-5, $24.95

The Whole Internet User's Guide and Catalog has turned out to be a classic, and the second edition sweetens the pot, having been completely updated to reflect the development of new Internet tools, including Mosaic, MIME, tin, pine, and xarchie. It also includes a wonderful catalog of Internet resources.

8. The Internet Yellow Pages

By Harley Hahn and Rick Stout

Published by Osborne Publishing

ISBN 0-07-882023-5

447 pages, $27.95

The Internet Yellow Pages strives to be an unmatched subject-oriented index to the Internet's resources, a lofty goal given the number of competing indexes available. Of the copious online “yellow-pages” books available, it is obvious that the art department that worked on this one, worked the hardest. The Internet Yellow Pages' organization is intuitive and consistent, pointing to high-quality and truly interesting sites to visit.

9. The Internet Guide for New Users

By Daniel P. Dern

Published by McGraw-Hill

ISBN 0-07-016511

570 pages, $27.95

A very complete introduction to the world of the Internet. Along with the obligatory topics such as telnet, FTP, and Archie, the book suggests how to get an Internet account and teaches enough UNIX to survive on the Net. This book is more complete and in-depth than many other Internet books: Dern's deep knowledge of all things Internet shines through, although sometimes the book is a bit too formal. The book, like Dern, is UNIX-centric and laced with dry humor.

10. Internet in Plain English

By Bryan Pfaffenberger

Published by MIS Press

ISBN 1-55828-285-4

460 pages, $19.95

Of the various glossaries and dictionaries of Internet jargon, Internet in Plain English is the most complete. Arranged like a dictionary, it defines just about every term you're likely to hear on and about the Internet and UNIX, from “abbrev” to “zine”. It contains a lot of technical terms that tech-heads bandy about relentlessly (like CSO name server, ISDN, and OSI protocol suite) and can give beginners and intermediate users a leg up in understanding what everyone's talking about. ■

MultiMedia User Interface Accelerator

What SPiDER Pro-Vision 64 can do is not a dream, but a reality. As single add-on card, SPiDER Pro-Vision 64 delivers an unmatched combination of motion video and graphics accelerator, yet at a price of an average graphics card.

MSRP: $179 w/1MB
$225 w/2MB

Available after ComDex Nov. '94

The First Integrated Video and Graphics Accelerator

Graphics Accelerator

The SPiDER Pro-Vision 64 includes a dedicated BitBlt engine to maximize the performance GUI and CAD applications. In addition to hardware BitBlt the Pro-Vision 64 also possesses many advanced features like: Hardware cursor, Color DitherFill, Linear memory access, line draw, clipping, and color expansion.

Motion Video Accelerator

An integrated motion video accelerator enables motion softwares to achieve 30fps full-screen playback at any color depth. The SPiDER Pro-Vision 64 accomplished this task by offloading the CPU-intensive tasks of scaling and color space conversion to its video accelerator. The end result is a smooth motion of video. The Pro-Vision supports many common software codec (compress/decompress).

- Graphics Accelerator up to 1280 X 1024 X 256 colors at 75Hz non-interlaced.
- Full-motion, full-screen video playback with smooth 30fps in 16 million colors.
- Accelerates all multimedia CDs games, video, and MPC titles.
- VESA DPMS power management to reduce power consumption.
- Menu driven installations and utilities.
- Resolution and refresh rate switching on-the-fly.
- An all in one card to reduce incompatibility.

NOW Electronics,
Your Only Source for High-end Machines

4 YEAR
PARTS WARRANTY

If you are looking to buy a high-end machine with room to grow and a company to stand by you then buy NOW. Just think about this for a minute. What do you do when four months after you get your system, you decide to add a video capture board that requires a pass through cable to your video card, or you decide to install multiple boot capability to run DOS, Windows NT or OS/2? Do you expect a mail order company to provide you with technical support on these issues? Unless you're a computer whiz, you're stuck. A mail order company will not be able to provide you with the technical expertise over the phone, much less do the work for you. That's where we come in. At NOW, we do not just ship boxes, we sell technology and expertise, we stand behind our systems as long as you own them. We are flexible, knowledgeable, and versatile. Buy local, buy NOW.

Things That Make You Go Hmmmm!!! #3

At Now We Care To Educate You!

NexGen processor based systems will soon start popping up in ads, and often will cost $200 less than a comparable Intel Pentium system. What's the catch? Three main differences between the two chips: 1) Pentium has the FPU (Math-CO) built-in, Nx586 has it optional; 2) Unlike the Pentium, Nx586 has On-chip L2 cache controller; 3) Nx586 has 32KB integrated cache, while Pentium has only 16KB. Since the Nx586 is 100% compatible with all the x86 software bases, we believe it is a good choice for applications that do not need the FPU. Our Nexus system incorporates the Nx586 processor.

SCSI interface comes in more than one standard. Basically, all provide the same function, but differ in performance. The SCSI standards are: SCSI-1 (1986) had 8-bit bus running at 5MHz clock, therefore provided the max. DTR of 5MB/sec. The Popular SCSI-2 (1992) is similar to SCSI-1 except for the capability of having wider buses and higher clock rates. With fast SCSI-2 the clock is 10MHz with 8-bit bus i.e. having 10MB/sec DTR. With fast & Wide SCSI-2 the clock is still at 10MHz but the bus is 16-bit which provides 20MB/sec DTR. With fast/Wide SCSI-2 requires special 68-pin cable. Many of our high-end Pentium systems incorporate the Fast/Wide technology.

(Note: some Quantum hard drives are described as Fast SCSI-3, which is NOT the same as Fast/Wide SCSI-2!)

In a Symmetrical MultiProcessor (SMP) system running a 32-bit operating system such as Windows NT, UNIX MP, Solaris and OS/2, multiple operations can run virtually simultaneously. Because of the embedded features of multi-threading and symmetric multiprocessing in these OS's, during execution of an application, the OS divides tasks into independently executable threads, executed by an available CPU, therefore, improving the performance of the system dramatically. In Single processor systems on the other hand, multitasking is achieved by alternately executing instruction from two or more applications, sliced into very short time periods, thus giving the effect of running concurrently. We're currently offering machines that can incorporate the SMP technology.

CROSSWISE FACE TO FACE V2.0

Face to Face offers a cross-platform document conferencing software solution for both Macintosh and Windows. With Face to Face v2.0, Windows and Macintosh users can review and annotate documents, in real time. Version 2 includes new features for users who conduct business at a distance. Network support for TCP/IP has been added to a list that includes NetWare, AppleTalk, and ISDN. Other new features include a general purpose file transfer utility and expanded support for more than 150 modems. Listener, a receive-only version that cannot initiate a call itself, but can be used to conduct meetings with any standard version of Face to Face, is included with both Macintosh and Windows versions. ($179 per copy) Crosswise Corp., 105 Locust St., Suite 301, Santa Cruz, CA 95060. (408)459-9060.

DAY-TIMER ORGANIZER

Day-Timer Organizer is a powerful, flexible, easy-to-use personal information manager for comprehensive time and information management. It provides scheduling, task management, address book, notebook, and expense tracking functions for Windows, DOS, and networked environments. If you are already familiar with Day-Timers' popular paper-based organizers you will instantly recognize the daily planner screen metaphor. Data exchanged between office and portable computers are automatically updated and reconciled. You can also exchange messages routed through cc:Mail, Microsoft Mail, or most other email systems. The networked version is an excellent group scheduler and organizational tool for groups of two to 250. The workgroup version offers a TeamOrganizer view, automatic notification of invitees, task delegation, messaging, and selective sharing of addresses and notes. (Windows or DOS version, $139) Day-Timer Technologies, Inc., 2855 Campus Dr., San Mateo, CA 94403. (415)572-6260.

MYMAILMANAGER

MyMailManager offers a complete Bulk Mail solution. It eases the task of preparing mailings while qualifying mailings for maximum postal discount. The included CD-ROM Address Checker contains the USPS National Address Database, which contains every address in the US, ensuring address correction, standardization, and Zip+4 matching. The CD will be updated quarterly for accuracy. MyMailManager also performs Bulk Mail Cost analysis, prints US Postal Service forms, and assists users with written guides to the entire Bulk Mail process. It also produces hundreds of printouts, including labels, envelopes, postcards, address books, and more. ($129.95, Windows, DOS, and Macintosh) MySoftware Co., 2197 E. Bayshore Rd., Palo Alto, CA 94303. (415)473-3600.

BUSINESS CARD READER

WBS CHART FOR PROJECT

WBS Chart for Project allows users of Microsoft Project to produce presentation-quality Work Breakdown Structure (WBS) charts directly from their projects. WBS Chart instantly displays the hierarchical structure of a project, showing how the project is broken down into summary and detail levels. It is similar in appearance to an Organizational Chart but shows how a project is organized rather than a corporation. WBS Chart is a full-featured Windows program that allows users to create, edit, and print charts directly from Microsoft Project. Users can also create organizational charts and other types of hierarchical charts. ($149, single-user copy) Jim Spiller & Associates. (707)425-2484.

INTERLEAF 6 FOR WINDOWS

Interleaf 6 for Windows and Windows NT is geared to organizations that need to produce complex documents as part of a business-critical process. Document contents can be generated either by using Interleaf 6 for Windows' extensive text and graphic capabilities, or may come from your favorite word processing or graphics application. Acting as a publishing engine, it takes in documents from different applications, applies a consistent format for uniformity, and structures the information so that unrelated document pieces become transformed into a cohesive document or set of documents. Individuals and workgroups are able to share and reuse information, and manage projects over a network. In addition to providing powerful document creation and assembly tools,

NEOPAINT 3.0

Interleaf 6 is an object-oriented development environment for building customized document applications to address specific business needs. ($995; Developer's Edition, $1495) Interleaf, Inc., Prospect Place, 9 Hillside Ave., Waltham, MA 02154. (617)290-0710.

SURVEY PRO FOR WINDOWS

Survey Pro for Windows is a Windows-based implementation of Apian Software's all-in-one package for rapid generation of complete, integrated business surveys. The three basic components of every survey—questionnaire design, database answer entry, and management analysis and reporting—are closely coupled through these "tiles" so that survey specifications need only be made once and are then automatically propagated throughout the entire resulting system. In addition to its new WYSIWYG questionnaire design interface, the Windows version offers increased layout flexibility and robust statistical analysis capabilities. The statistical portion includes frequency percentages, counts, mean, media, standard deviation, minimum, maximum, sum, and top-box percentages. ($695) Apian Software, Inc., PO Box 1224, Menlo Park, CA 94026. 1-800-237-4565.

SMARTPATENT

products to enable any PC user to easily produce compelling marketing and sales materials. The PowerText feature lets users rotate, twist, and turn text in various styles and shapes to enhance the quality and effects of their materials. Support for OLE 2 (Object Linking and Embedding) makes it easier and quicker for users to integrate other applications such as text, graphs, spreadsheets, and artwork into other documents. Page Magic is also designed to format any text to complement the styles in a line of distinctive paper products called Company Colors. More than twelve designs are available and each design has coordinated layouts for stationery, envelopes, flyers, business cards, newsletters, brochures, and other materials. ($69.95; upon registration users receive twenty-five additional fonts, six hundred new Clip Art designs, and a start-up kit of Company Colors paper) New England Business Service, Inc., 500 Main St., Groton, MA 01471. BUSINESS CARD READER V2.0

Business Card Reader (BCR) v2.0, optical recognition software for use with business card scanners, offers significant improvements in accuracy rates and many key new features. BCR has the ability to read eleven European languages and supports address formats of business cards from Australia, Canada, Japan, New Zealand, and Taiwan. It provides direct links to contact management software for importing and exporting data and can be invoked directly from most PIM software. In addition, instead of pressing a "scan" button or invoking a menu command, users can simply place cards into the scanner and the application will automatically begin to read and process cards in the background mode. With Field Verifier, BCR will reduce the time users spend proof-reading for accuracy. When checking addresses, for example, the user can click on the address and the software will display the original address image. THOMAS BROS. MAPS GEOFINDER

GeoFinder for Windows allows people to access every page of the Thomas Guide on their computer—but that is only the beginning. Once an address is entered, a map appears on the screen with the location indicated by a marker. The cursor can also be maneuvered around the map and stopped on any given street, at which time the address of the block appears. Users can zoom in for a closer look, pan out to explore the surrounding areas, and customize maps with text, lines, circles, and polygons. Up-to-the-minute conditions for Los Angeles and Orange County are available with optional traffic

ODBC INTEGRATOR

ODBC Integrator for Windows 3.1 client-based software moves data integration capabilities to the desktop. It is targeted as a data integration middleware product for desktops and works with all ODBC drivers and tools to make distributed ODBC data sources appear as one data source to applications. It also provides the capability to join data transparently between data sources, manage synchronization of data between a laptop/desktop and a server database, and allow users to move data subsets from server databases to the personal workstation for local analysis. DAY-TIMER ORGANIZER

BRIOQUERY

BrioQuery, for both Macintosh and Windows users, offers a full-featured desktop query, analysis, and reporting tool. It places a fast, multidimensional analysis tool at the heart of an advanced ad-hoc SQL query system. It is available in three configurations: BrioQuery Designer enables data managers to create and deploy Brio Data Models; BrioQuery Navigator allows users to construct queries from Brio Data Models rather than directly from database tables; and BrioQuery Explorer is for organizations that have well-structured data sources and do not need to impose layers between users and data. BrioQuery includes native support for Oracle, Sybase, Red Brick Warehouse, and Microsoft SQL Server and provides access to more than fifty other databases via SequeLink, EDA/DQL, DAL, and ODBC. (Explorer and Navigator are each $595 per single unit. BrioQuery Designer is $2495) Brio Technology, Inc., 444 Castro St., Suite 700, Mountain View, CA 94041. (415)961-4110.

SIMPLY HOUSE CD-ROM

Simply House, a how-to multimedia software package, features more than five hundred pages of text and expert home improvement advice from The Stanley Complete Step-by-Step Book of Home Repair and Improvement. The material is easily accessible through either the use of real-world objects in the library, or through the picture icons at the bottom of the screen. The Categories section, Full-Text Search, powerful Index features, and dozens of video clips on several areas of home repair, provide users with in-depth information on making repairs safely and efficiently. Additional features include a Blueprint page that provides an overhead view of each room in the house, more than fourteen hundred full-color illustrations, Bookmarks that allow users to keep track of reference and project pages as they navigate through the material, and a change view button that gives users different perspectives of the room they are in. LIVING TRUST MAKER

A BRIEF HISTORY OF TIME

Based on the phenomenally popular book by Stephen Hawking, this interactive adventure integrates graphics, movies, and animations with the complete text of the book to bring Professor Hawking's ideas to life. With this CD-ROM you will journey to the edge of a black hole, join Galileo for the discovery of the laws of acceleration, roam the subatomic landscape of Quarkland, and participate in the ultimate conversation about the beginning, direction, and end of time. From ancient philosophers to modern astrophysicists, the major contributors to the search for the meaning of the universe are given their own voices. Historical figures, including Aristotle, Galileo, Ptolemy, Copernicus, Kepler, and Newton, emerge from the silence of history to explain their theories and discoveries. Created by Jim Mervis and Robit Hairman, A Brief History of Time: An Interactive Adventure on CD-ROM with Stephen W. Hawking is a coproduction of Crunch Media in association with Scientific America and W.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF TIME

SITEMETER 5.0

SiteMeter is a PC LAN software metering product supporting wide-area metering over TCP/IP. It reduces software licensing expenses by precisely monitoring software usage across the WAN (wide area network) and metering out software usage based on the number of actual licenses purchased. This allows organizations to base purchase decisions on actual usage as opposed to the number of seats. Its powerful reporting capabilities provide administrators with a variety of easily produced SPA-approved reports to demonstrate licensing compliance in the event of an SPA audit. A flexible enforcement option allows administrators to monitor application usage without locking out users. A VIP feature ensures that named individuals on the network receive guaranteed access to applications. SiteMeter offers NLM-based support for Windows95, Windows, DOS, OS/2, and Macintosh clients. (Site license pricing for SiteMeter begins at $40 per node for ten workstations) McAfee, Inc., 2710 Walsh Ave., Santa Clara, CA 95051-0963. (408)988-3832.

SPSS 6.1 FOR MACINTOSH

The new Macintosh release jumps three versions from the current SPSS 4.0 for the Macintosh. It offers significant improvement, over earlier versions in four key areas. Usability has been increased with the addition of a Mac user interface supporting System 7 features and design. Users have access to more statistics that allow them to perform more thorough analysis including Kaplan-Meier, Cox Regression, and GLM-type loglinear. Fully integrated and editable graphs including business, statistical quality control, and statistical chart types which can be created automatically from a user's statistical analysis to present results clearly. Graphics are included in the Base module, instead of as an add-on module. Improved data and file management featuring a spreadsheet-like Data Editor and built-in ODBC links for accessing data make the overall preparation of data for analysis easier. STARWORKS FOR SOLARIS

StarWorks video networking software combines with the Sun SPARC server running the Solaris operating system to create powerful corporate video storage with the storage and performance to deliver video to hundreds of users throughout the enterprise. StarWorks has the power to support video-on-demand services from a standard enterprise server platform and co-reside with other network services like NFS, and applications like large databases (such as those from Oracle, Sybase, Informix, and Ingres). By comparison, a 486-based EISA server running StarWorks can be configured only as a dedicated video server. StarWorks for Solaris also runs on Sun workstation clients and includes Starlight's StarWorks Interface to Movie, enabling developers to create video applications for the Solaris platform. This video server system fully interoperates with all client platforms supported by StarWorks—Microsoft DOS and Windows, Macintosh, and SPARC. (StarWorks-12M, $8750 supports up to ten users at 1.2Mbps) Starlight Networks, Inc. (415)967-0574.

FARALLON PHONENET POCKET CONNECTOR

The PhoneNet Pocket Connector offers the functionality of Farallon's PhoneNet StarConnector in a compact, convenient size. With the Pocket Connector mobile users can carry the compact network connectors with them, gaining quick access to any network for sharing information, transferring files, or printing. Because it features Farallon's TwistFit design, the Connector fits smoothly into the mini DIN-8 printer or communications port of any Newton MessagePad, Macintosh computer, or LocalTalk printer. The single RJ-11 jack is pre-terminated to ensure reliable network connections. ($19.99, the PhoneNet Starter Kit includes two Pocket Connectors and a telephone-style cable) Farallon Computing, Inc., 2470 Mariner Sq. Loop, Alameda, CA 94501-1010. (510)814-5100.

NBASE ETHERNET SWITCH

The NH 204AT Workgroup Accelerator is an Ethernet Switch that doubles or quadruples the effective throughput of a LAN. Its unique architecture is optimized for mixed protocol environments, such as TCP/IP, burst mode, and standard IPX. It features cut-through switching, AUI and twisted pair interface, full duplex, and flow control. The NH 204AT doubles the throughput of a port by establishing a 20Mbps, point-to-point, full duplex link for distances to 30 miles. Flow Control capabilities prevent excessive traffic from causing lost packets and lengthy delays due to protocol timeouts. Configuration information and complete error statistics are available via SNMP or private management, both in and out of band. A redundant power supply option is also available. (NH 204AT prices begin at $2895) NBase Switch Communications, Inc., 8943 Fullbright Ave., Chatsworth, CA 91311. (818)773-0900.

PALMTOP ETHERNET HUB

The CN8816 from CNet Technology is a palmtop-sized Ethernet hub that will support sixteen 10BaseT ports and one coaxial port. Small enough to fit on a desktop, this new hub will enable network managers to quickly establish workgroup networks of up to sixteen PC or other peripheral devices—all with auto-partitioning. For increased flexibility, the hub features a switch-selectable crossover port for hub-to-hub linking. A coaxial port, with an activity LED to indicate traffic status, provides network backbone connection. To simplify network management, the hub also includes a power status LED and two LEDs per port to indicate LINK/RECEIVE and PARTITION status. The CN8816 features a built-in worldwide power supply with automatic detection/selection of voltage levels ranging from 90 to 250V AC. ($559) CNet Technology, Inc., 2199 Zanker Rd., San Jose, CA 91531. 1-800-486-CNET.

BREEZE 2000 BRIDGE/ROUTER

The Breeze 2000 is designed to adapt to changing internetworking and bandwidth needs by allowing the user to configure each of its two WAN ports for integrated or external data communications equipment. Its modular design supports DDS and Frame Relay to T1/E1 speeds, ISDN, Switched 56, and regular dial-up phone lines. It also supports TCP/IP and IPX routing as well as MAC layer Ethernet bridging. Either port may also be configured for external data comm equipment via a variety of interface types, including RS-532, V.35, and RS-323. Either of the ports can be set for synchronous or asynchronous data. These features give the network manager a flexible solution for connecting branch offices to central site and remote offices to each other. ($2695) Networks Northwest, Inc., PO Box 40209, Bellevue, WA 98015-4209. (206)641-8779.

TRIBELINK

TribeLink gives remote Macintosh, PC, and UNIX users eight ports of high-speed access (up to 57.6Kbps) to AppleTalk and TCP/IP networks over standard phone lines. Because TribeLink was built around Point-to-Point Protocol (PPP), both CHAP (Challenge Handshake Authentication Protocol) and PAP (Password Authentication Protocol) security are standard, preventing unauthorized users from accessing the network. The included TribePPP Macintosh client software provides support for both AppleTalk and TCP/IP over PPP and is fully compatible with InterCon's InterPPP. LineTracker management software comes bundled and offers an intuitive way to define and manage users. Upgrades include support for Novell's IPX protocol

E-TECH BULLET 100E

The Bullet 100E is a low-cost, V.34 28.8Kbps external fax modem. Its menu-driven LCD panel displays line conditions and throughput speeds so that the connection can be easily checked. The panel and Smartkeys make it easy for users to set and change their modem configurations. In addition to V.34 compliance and backwards compatibility with V.32terbo, it has built-in FlashROM. To ensure reliability over inferior lines, the Bullet uses MNP 2-4 and V.42 for error protection and V.42bis and MNP 5 data compression protocols. The modem also supports two-wire leased lines with auto dial backup and line restoral. Additional features include remote configuration, call back, password security protection, and self-diagnostic testing. The integrated fax operates at 14.4Kbps. Free fax software for DOS and Windows is included; Macintosh software is available as an option. ($499) E-Tech, Inc., 3525 Ryder St., Santa Clara, CA 95051. (408)730-1388 or 1-800-EBULLET.

DATASAFE FAX MODEM

Datasafe, a V.FAST 28.8Kbps external data/fax modem, combines password protection, call back security, and remote configuration in one package. It has auto fall back and fall forward, which insure data transmission at the highest possible speed. The modem automatically distinguishes between a data or fax transmission. The audio speaker has software volume control and the Datasafe automatically runs self-diagnostics every time it is turned on. The PC package includes Delrina 4-in-1 fax and communication software for Windows and DOS; the Macintosh version includes Delrina Fax Light for

Mac. The upgrade path when the V.34 protocol is ratified will be $19. (PC external version, $319, Macintosh-compatible version, $329) Logicode Technology, Inc., 1380 Flynn Rd., Camarillo, CA 91320. (805)388-9000.

PROCLASS PCMCIA 144 MODEM

The ProClass PCMCIA 144 is available in two models: the PC144TC comes with a PCMCIA RJ-11 connector cable, and the PC144 EZ-Port features a pop-out RJ-11 connector that requires no special cable to attach to the telephone line. Designed to fit Type II, Type III, and Toshiba 16mm PCMCIA slots, the new modems comply with PCMCIA Release 2.0 and 2.1 to ensure compatibility with all major PCMCIA-equipped notebook computers. Despite their small size, they provide all the attributes of sophisticated 14.4Kbps, V.32bis desktop modems. An automatic idle mode for when the modem is not in use significantly extends the PC's battery life. Flash memory provides fast and easy feature upgrades by the user. WinFAX Lite and Quick Link II Win/DOS fax and data communications software are included. ($249, ProClass with EZ-Port; $239, ProClass) Practical Peripherals, 375 Conejo Ridge, Thousand Oaks, CA 91361-4928. (805)497-4774.

They also include a compact dual RJ-11 connector for simultaneous modem and telephone connectivity. The Courier model offers additional features that optimize remote LAN or host access in the mobile environment. These

SCAN-ONE FOR PCMCIA

Scan-One for PCMCIA brings bar code scanning and collection to PC, diminishing the need for separate collection and tracking systems. Users can now use their existing mobile devices—laptops, palmtops, PDAs, etc.—for remote bar code data collection. It includes a Type II PCMCIA card and cable in addition to the Scan-One wand, connector, and software. Scan-One for PCMCIA is easy to install and use. Simply plug the PCMCIA card into the computer's PCMCIA slot, connect the bar code input device to the PCMCIA card, load the software driver, and set the options. Vertical Technologies, Inc., 11170 S. Bay Area is a great place when it comes to shopping for a computer - Only if you know what you are buying though. Buying from a PC builder who doesn't even know what AUTOEXEC.BAT is means throwing your money away and you will end up with pointing fingers here and there. Buying from a PC Integrator like iMiracle means plug and run, peace of mind for your computing life. Afterall, who else cares what those jumpers should be set, whether it is running optimally, and how it works with your software? Think smart, think iMiracle!

Cables

The quality of your SCSI Cables and Terminators has a direct effect on the performance and reliability of any SCSI bus. Using inexpensive "PASSIVE TYPE" Terminators and "UN-SHIELDED" Cables can cause many problems. Granite Digital has introduced the SCSIVue line of Active Diagnostic Terminators and Gold Diagnostic Cables to eliminate SCSI problems and to improve SCSI performance.

The SCSIVue Active Diagnostic Terminator is not only the best Active Terminator you can find, but also a SCSI analyzer. The SCSIVue Gold Diagnostic Cables are exclusively designed to provide the maximum protection available to the SCSI bus.

IMAGINE 128 GRAPHICS ACCELERATOR BOARD

The Imagine 128 Graphics Accelerator Board from Number Nine is designed specifically for Pentium-based PCs and will take advantage of future high-performance CPU technologies. It includes an optimized 128-bit memory controller that handles traffic to and from the processor at sustained bandwidths to 500MB/second, ensuring that the speed remains nearly constant across all color models. As a result there is no noticeable performance loss when color depth is increased to 16-bit or 32-bit true color. The Imagine 128 supports a wide variety of drawing primitives and display functions, such as bit-blt rates of 165 million pixels per second within Windows. It is available in two models, both of which support 4MB of VRAM. The base-level board supports resolutions up to 1280 x 1024 with 65,000 colors at up to 80Hz, and the high-end version supports resolutions up to 1600 x 1200 with 65,000 colors at up to 76Hz. ($999 for base level, $1499 for high end) Number Nine Computer Corp., 18 Hartwell Ave., Lexington, MA 02173. (617)674-0009.

VALUE

The power of a system often begins with the processor.

Supporting Parts and the method of setup and configuration are equally as important.
At Paradine, we have the technical know-how that is the key to having a CPU that initially works, and that works well.

Only in brand, reliable components at a fair price.

Supplied, or not components to create a buy a computer, you are buying a system. It is not just the hardware, it is the software, the support, the service, the warranty.

Introducing the last page of paper in this magazine.

(And in your office!)

Green Computing and Document Imaging

At last... a paper-reducing, full featured personal document imaging system for only $99 — GreenDesk for Windows™. Integrate your computer-based and paper-based information from a single "green" desktop and cabinet — a revolutionary breakthrough in personal productivity software for Small Office/Home Office systems and professional users.

Customizable Database / PIM

Use our SmartTabs database as a stand-alone, fully customizable Personal Information Manager, or as a powerful search engine to "tab" all your GreenDesk-managed documents. Also supports keyword and Boolean search across the entire cabinet.

Electronic File Cabinet

Manage and compress (up to 45:1) your PC-based faxes, control your scanner, and store any data, (including multimedia video and sound) for instant access.

- Faxes & scanned paper images
- Video/multimedia clips
- Voice mail & sound clips
- Integrates all your data "Across Applications"

OCR / Document "Recycling"

Go PaperFree. Recycle your incoming faxes and scanned paper documents into editable text for your favorite word processor with our ultra-accurate Optical Character Recognition engine.

Compound Folders

With our cross-application "compound folders," you manage all your information just like a paper-based file cabinet — only "greener" and smarter. GreenDesk delivers "long file name" capability today and search "across your applications" — a time saver and productivity booster.

Program Launch / Desktop Management

Just click on any document (or Windows "object") stored in our GreenDesk cabinet — our SmartLauncher finds the file and launches the "native" Windows applications automatically. Move beyond Windows "file manager" to a seamless "office environment" of your favorite programs and often-accessed documents.
